Júlia Santamaria is a Junior Scientist at the Institute of Public Health, Medical Decision Making and Health Technology Assessment at UMIT - University for Health Sciences, Medical Informatics and Technology in Hall i. T., Austria.

Júlia Santamaria completed her Bachelor in Biomedicine in Barcelona where she also did several internships in different research institutions. After completing her degree, she moved to Austria to study International Health and Social Management at the Management Center Innsbruck (MCI). In April 2018, she started as a Technology Assessment Associate in the hearing aid manufacturer MED-EL in Innsbruck where she worked in the field of hearing implants. Motivated by the will of gaining a deeper insight in Health Economics and Medical Decision Making, she joined UMIT as a doctoral student in Public Health. She is currently involved in the EUREGIO ... project.

Her research interests include health-economic modelling, quality-of-life assessment and public health policy. In terms of medical areas, she is particularly interested in oncology, genetic diseases, immunology and nutrition.
